DETOUR on Main Street began Monday as installation of the new pipeline for Rogers Brook began in the business section. Through traffic on Route 28 is detoured from Elm Square going south and from Andover Academy going north. In the immediate area of the cut being made for the new pipe, the street is closed from Chestnut to Park Streets. The detour is expected to last at least four weeks. Workmen struck ledge this week and it was necessary to blast. This condition may extend the time to complete the work. (Cole)

Conservation Board Receives Aid Grant

The Andover Conservation Commission has received a check for $6,551 from the Massachusetts Department of Natural Resources which represents the Commonwealth's share of the self-help land acquisition project for the Foster property which the commission took over for conservation purposes.

The Commission has also received from the Soil Service division of the U.S. Department of Agriculture a completed survey of soil use in Andover.

This project has been in progress for the past two years and is the first such survey done since 1929 when the same agency surveyed the town.

The survey consists of a set of air views of the land, charts and maps which show the type of soil and sub-surface and the best use of the land.

In addition, there is an inventory which serves as a reference and tells the type of terrain and the best use to which it may be put.

The survey included only those parts of the town which are not yet developed, but which may permit development. Such places as the Harold Parker State Forest or large swamp areas were not included as they are not available or suitable for development.

Town Manager Richard J. Bowen said at Monday's selectmen's meeting that the soil survey, coupled with the Capital Improvement Program gives the town excellent master-plan type information for programming in the future.

City Will Be Asked To Permit Sewer Tie

The selectmen agreed Monday night to make a formal request to the Lawrence City Council for permission to use the city sewer system to service a new development of 23 homes in an area bounded by North, Greenwood and Mt. Vernon Streets.

The proposal has been before the board for several weeks, Town Counsel Frederic S. O'Brien told the selectmen Monday evening that he had conferred with the Lawrence city solicitor and was advised that the city wanted to have the selectmen make a simple request to allow a tie-in for the sanitary disposal of the sub-division in Andover.

Lawrence has at least 18 homes and two business establishments tied into the Andover system. As a result, there is every reason to believe that the city would act favorably on the selectmen's request.

When the request is received, town counsel advised, there will be a contract form provided by

Sgt. Insp. Deyermund Retires From Force

Sgt. Inspector Robert V. Deyermund, chief investigator for the Andover police for nearly 10 years, retired from the department Monday.

The popular police officer, regarded as one of the finest detectives in the state, is expected to take a position as head of a security force for a private corporation reportedly in Florida.

Deyermund, 52, had been a member of the Andover police department since 1945 and had been a sergeant since 1955, becoming sergeant-inspector in July of 1958. His father, John Deyermund, was a police officer in Andover for many years.

One of Deyermund's last official duties was an appearance on Monday in Lawrence District court where he gave testimony in a case involving a Lawrence man charged with crimes against an Andover young woman.

His elevation to the rank of inspector came as the result of a town meeting vote in March, 1958. The full time inspector's position was created so that one man could investigate all important cases which previously were probed by many different officers.

Deyermund's retirement comes under provisions of the law which permits retirement after more than 20 years of service if under 55 years of age.

Five Modifications Made In Brook Plan

Five modifications in the Rogers Brook plan have been agreed to by the Commonwealth and the town. The changes will take care of the surface water problem in the area of Whittier and Chestnut Streets and will cost an additional $13,000. The town will pay half of this.

Town Manager Richard J. Bowen reported to the selectmen Monday evening that he had received a communication from John T. Hannon, deputy chief engineer in the Division of Waterways of the State Department of Public Works detailing five changes which could be made if action was taken by the selectmen at once. The project is well underway and last minute changes are frowned upon by the state engineers.

The selectmen conferred in Boston with the heads of the department recently and it was as a result of this meeting that the proposed changes were agreed upon.

The new modifications call for installation of 250 additional feet of drain pipe. This network of catch basins and drains will take care of surface water in the vicinity of Memorial Park. It will eliminate the possibility of the old open Rogers Brook bed becoming filled after rain storms and resulting in beds of stagnant water. The fear of this has caused many complaints from residents of the park area.

The new drainage system will be tied into the 84 inch pipes now being installed in the park, on Barnard St., and across Main St., where the big pipes will connect with a line installed several years ago.

The town manager said that the town has $6,097 remaining in the Rogers Brook fund so that the additional drainage installation cost can be covered.

Kerner Study Group Has Made 'Interim' Report

A group of Andover residents whose number has ranged from 15 to 75, known as the Kerner Report Study Group, has issued what is described as an "interim report."

The men and women have been gathering at Memorial Hall Library each Tuesday evening to discuss the Report of the National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders (or the Kerner Report as it is popularly known.)

The purpose of the meetings has been to determine the implications of the findings of the report for suburban towns such as Andover, where, the group believes, the urgent problems of civil disorder remain largely invisible.

The groups report, consisting of five typewritten pages, is divided into four sub-sections headed "Attitudes," "Education,"

"Housing," and "Suburban-Urban Cooperations."

The findings under each of these sub-divisions were made by four groups into which the main body was divided in order to facilitate the discussions. Each of the groups provided recommendations in connection with the sections they discussed.

Canadian Student Compares Systems

Editor's Note: This is the second of two articles about Gary Bellinger, a student at Victoria Park Secondary School, Toronto, Canada, who at one time resided in Andover. He spent the final month of his school year attending Andover High School. While here, he lived with the Harry Debolt family, 79 Wildwood Rd. and went to school each day with Tom Debolt, an AHS senior.

By Helen M. Eccles

Gary said that there is more study of poetry in his Canadian school, with each student choosing the individual poems he will study, and there is close correlation between poetry and music, as well as music and art.

Gary described classroom presentation at his Canadian school as "project-oriented, using modern communication means, and demanding lots of student interpretation. It seldom stops at just read and discuss."

"In my school, after we'd read George Orwell's '1984' and discussed the plot and themes in class, groups were assigned topics; ours was the social organization in the book. Our group restudied the book among ourselves and decided our project would be to apply to social organization described in '1984' to our school. Our presentation to the rest of the class, in a darkened room, included a huge picture of our principal overhead, as Big Brother, tapes of speeches and commands to the students, and characters in white-face acting out scenes or what life in our school would be like, if it had the type of social organization depicted in '1984.'"

I asked Gary to describe the American attitudes about Canada he had noted since his return to Andover. Did people here display ignorance about Canadian life?

"No, not here in New England, which is so close to Canada, and many people have visited Montreal and Quebec. But when I visited in Pennsylvania, I ran into plenty of the cliché attitudes: Canada still means Mounties, cold - you'd think it was all above the Arctic Circle - and the idea that all Canadians speak nothing but French. Actually, even in the one province of Quebec, French speaking (separatists) with his remarks about Quebec becoming French. Most of them thought he ought to mind his own business."

Canadians tend to think of Americans as being nationalistic, but Canadian nationalism is just beginning according to Gary. "I think it can be said to date from Expo, when many Canadian people stopped thinking of themselves as part of a certain ethnic group, and began to have pride in thinking of themselves as Canadians."

Gary thinks the U.S. should pay more attention to Canada, and vice versa. U.S. capital, he pointed out owns 60% of Canadian industry, and while there is some Canadian resentment over this, Canada's leaders freely say that the country couldn't survive without it.

But Gary adds that while Canada needs U.S. capital, we in the United States need their natural resources - minerals, oil, lakes - because we have already depleted much of our own, and so much of our water is non-polluted. "The two countries need to cultivate each other's friendship, and get to know about each other."

And on friendship, the interview with Gary Bellinger ended. His strongest impression of Andover, he said, was how friendly everyone had been to him, the way Andover school authorities had cooperated with his across-the-border educational experiment, and the number of friends he has made.

And did Gary get that diploma? Mrs. Harold Debolt, who calls him a "delightful member of the family and marvelous with the younger children," tells us that Gary returned to Victoria Park with his ideas gathered into that report, which he exchanged for a diploma.

Gary must have meant what he said about enjoying friendliness here, because now he's back down again. He's spending the summer with his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Harry Arakelian, 82 Linden Ave., North Andover, and working in a plant in Lawrence.

He'll return to Don Mills in the fall for the optional thirteenth year, after the diploma, which most university-bound students take, then on to three undergraduate years at the University of Toronto or York, in Toronto.

Bazaar Days Attract Many

As usual, Andover's annual old fashioned Sidewalk Bazaar Days last Friday and Saturday were a great success. From the time the stores opened Friday morning until they closed for the day Saturday at 5:30 p.m., the downtown area was alive with activity.

With traffic excluded from Elm Square to Chestnut St., visitors to the area had free access to the many booths and refreshment stands put up along the sidewalks and in the roadway.

There was plenty of music and the bagpipers on Saturday afternoon were a special attraction.

Competitions were held in two events, the bicycle race and the doll carriage parade.

Winners in the bicycle race were: 1 - David Reilly, 7 Summer St., 2 - Susan Meinelt, 173 Elm St., 3 - Eric Fredette, 62 Juniper St.

Doll carriage winners were: 1 - Bettie and Bonnie Hollis, 28 Argilla Rd., 2 - Mary Lou Petrella, 4 Summer St., and 3 - Susan Petrella, same address.

The program was carried out by the Andover Chamber of Commerce with some eleven civic, fraternal and social organizations assisting with the special attractions.

Summer School To Open

Andover Summer School will operate from July 1 to August 9 this year. Andover and out-of-town residents are eligible, with Andover residents getting the preference.

Classes will be divided into two periods, 8 to 10 a.m. and 10:15 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. Classes will be held on July 20 to make up for July 5.

A scheduled Industrial Education course was cancelled because of a lack of interest.

Registration for the Summer School will continue until the opening day, July 1.

The program is directed by G. Arthur Danforth who gives details of the Summer School.

Objectives: The summer session is designed to provide the following educational opportunities for students of junior or senior high school age.

1. An opportunity to review, for credit, courses which were failed during the regular term. This credit, however, can be granted only by a pupil's principal and if a course is taken on this basis, arrangements should be made beforehand with the principal.

2. An opportunity to take remedial work to strengthen a weak background in a subject before proceeding to more advanced courses.

3. An opportunity to receive a grade that may offset a poor mark.

4. An opportunity to study a course such as typewriting which has not or could not be included in the student's regular school program.

5. An opportunity for corrective and developmental work in reading. These groups will be limited in size, and the work will be provided largely through group instruction supplemented by individual help.

6. An opportunity for qualified students to earn their driver's license in the summer session. To take the book course a student must be fifteen years and nine months old by July 1. A student must be sixteen years old to take the behind-the-wheel course and have his learner's permit.

7. An opportunity for students to study and practice the fundamentals of Arts and Crafts, and Industrial Education.

Registration: General registration for Andover residents will take place for grades 7 through 9 at the Junior High School's Guidance Offices, and grades 10 through 12 at the high school (Mr. Danforth) starting May 1. Non-residents should apply at the high school. A five-dollar, non-refundable, registration fee per course must be paid upon registration. This fee is applied to the tuition. Checks should be made payable to the Town of Andover. Andover residents will be given preference if high enrollment for any course makes it impossible to accept all. Interested students are urged to apply early since the number of students in each subject must be limited. note: All fees must be paid prior to the opening of school on July 1 unless special arrangements have been made with the director.

Fees: Regular classes, resident $25, non-resident $35; personal typing, resident $28, non-resident $38; driver education (book course) resident $10, non-resident $15; (behind-the-wheel) resident $25, non-resident $35.

By the action of the 1964 School Committee, a resident of Andover who has more than one child in the Summer School need pay only $20 for regular classes for second and subsequent children.

Regulations:

1. Students may enroll in either one or two courses. A student wishing to take two courses should note the schedule before making his selections in order to avoid conflict.

2. Each application must have the parent's approval.

3. All applications are subject to the approval of the Director of the Summer School.

4. A pupil is automatically admitted to the Summer School when his application is submitted, unless otherwise notified by the Director.

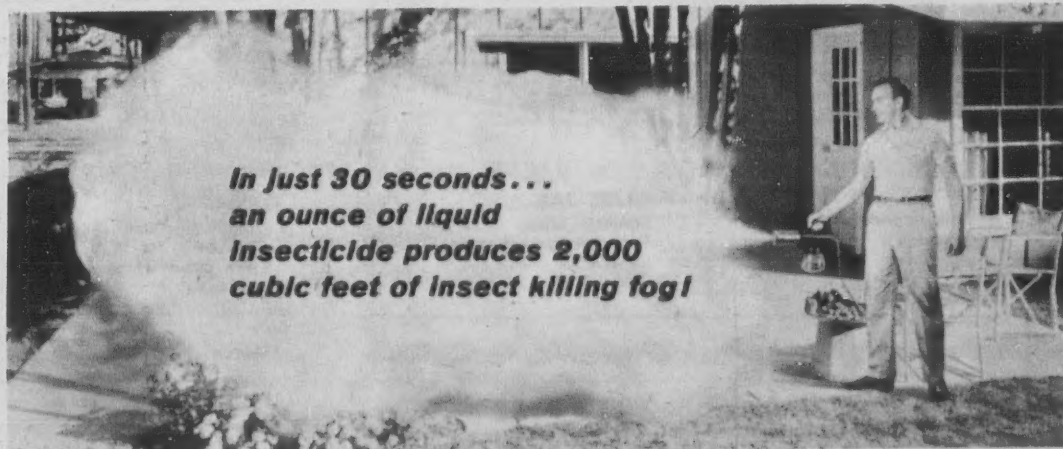

5. The Director reserves the right to withdraw course offerings, if an insufficient number of students enrolled. In such a case, registration fees would be returned.

6. Dress, building, and parking regulations are the same for Summer School as they are for regular school.

Modern Art Featured At Museum

Pace setters in modern art from the past 60 years are featured in a special summer exhibition of modern painting and sculpture at the Museum of Fine Arts through August in the 20th century galleries.

The 57 works from the collections of Susan Morse Hilles, Peggy Guggenheim and the museum's own modern collections show important art trends in today's fast-paced art world in a variety of media.

The paintings range from the calligraphic brush strokes of Hans Hartung to the hard-edge shapes of Ellsworth Kelly. Colorful canvases of Kenneth Noland and Jules Olitski show the trend toward enormous scale. Op art, with its shifting patterns, is represented by two leaders of the movement, Anuszkiewicz and Varsarely.

Mobiles by Alexander Calder and George Rickey are set in motion by the slightest changes in air currents.

Whimsical glass sculptures by abstract artist Max Ernst and Jean Arp are a colorful contrast to the realistic bronze sculptures of Henry Moore and Reg Butler. Giacometti is represented by two of his haunting figures. Other works of wood, stainless steel and alabaster show the artist's constant need to experiment in new media. One of the more unusual works, a wire and glass model for garden gates by Claire Falkenstein, was made for the garden of a Venetian palace.

Mrs. Guggenheim, niece of the founder of the Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum in New York, has donated works to the Museum of Fine Arts for many years. Mrs. Hilles, a noted collector from New Haven, Connecticut exhibited 100 works from her collection at the museum in 1966 in a show called "Sculpture and Painting Today."

King Becomes Associate Dean

William F. King of 71 Harold Parker Rd., was recently promoted to the rank of associate dean of faculty at Northeastern University, Boston.

An alumnus of Northeastern, where he received his bachelor's and master's degrees, Dean King had several years of industrial experience at Honeywell, Inc. and at AVCO Corp. before joining the university in 1960 as assistant professor of research in communications.

He subsequently held N.U. posts as associate professor of electrical engineering, executive officer of the department of electrical engineering and acting chairman of that department. In 1967 he was named acting dean of the College of Engineering.

King is one of three men promoted to new associate dean positions at N.U.

Commenting on the appointments, Northeastern University president Asa S. Knowles noted that "the growth of the university, now the largest private university in the United States in terms of enrollment, has made it desirable to create better communication between students and administration and between the various faculties and the administration."

King is a member of the Andover school committee and a past vice-president of the South School PTA.

He and his wife, the former Concetta LaTorre, have five children.

Associate Minister Called

At a special meeting of the members of South Church on Sunday, June 23, Reverend Paul D. Fagg was called to assume the position of Associate Minister of the church. Mr. Fagg will join Reverend J. Everett Bodge in the fall to serve in the field of Christian Education.

Mr. Fagg is a native of Danvers, and graduated from the University of Massachusetts in 1964. In 1968 he graduated from Andover Newton Theological School, where he participated in an honors program of independent studies.

He has been serving the Pawtucket Congregational Church in Lowell as minister to youth for the past three years, and also has been the Protestant Chaplain to Lowell State and Lowell Technological Colleges and the Lowell General Hospital School of Nursing. He has served during previous

Scholarship Fund Honors Late Minister

Dr. Robert L. Rasche, former interim minister at the South Church, who died March 28, will be memorialized by the Second Congregational Church of Beverly through the establishment of a Robert L. Rasche Scholarship Fund.

Those memorial gifts received by the church in Dr. Rasche's name at the time of his death are to be used as a foundation for the fund. A committee consisting of Mrs. Robert L. Rasche, Rev. Paul Clayton, Gordon Denley (chairman), Douglas Littlehale, Mrs. Ruth Stevens, F. Burton Jenness and Axel Hein-Hansen has been given the responsibility of creating the guide-lines and scope of the fund, as well as finding a way of making it permanent that it may be of service to the community for years to come.

The committee states that the "Robert L. Rasche Scholarship Fund" should be awarded to students, regardless of religious affiliation or place of residence, whose experience and purpose is in keeping with the high goals of Dr. Rasche. He was a servant of others. Throughout his life he served individuals, families, and institutions in the church and in the world because of his unshakable faith in God and dedication to the cause of Christ. Scholarships from this fund, therefore, shall be awarded to students who have a real need for financial aid, who have exhibited a willingness to live for others, and who intend to use their education to increase their ability to serve.

Contributions in the name of the fund are welcomed and may be sent to F. Burton Jenness, 605 Cabot St., or to the church, 35 Conant St., Beverly.

summers as Student Chaplain at Tewksbury State Hospital and the State Mental Hospital at Medfield. This summer he will be working in a supervisory capacity at the Medfield State Hospital in a training program of Clinical Pastoral Education. Mr. Fagg was recently accepted for graduate study toward an S.T.M. degree in Clinical Psychology and Pastoral Counseling at the Andover Newton Theological School.

He is married to the former Darlene Brown of Lowell. Mrs. Fagg is a graduate of Lowell State College and is teaching for Project Headstart in the Greater Lowell area.

Commemoration Service

On Independence Sunday, June 30, at 10 a.m. in the Andover Baptist Church, the composer of "My Country 'Tis of Thee", Baptist Samuel Francis Smith, will be commemorated.

There are two links with Andover Baptist Church: the composer was a Baptist and this national hymn was written in 1832 the same year as the founding of Andover Baptist Church.

Samuel Francis Smith was born in Boston's North End, and after graduating from Harvard in 1829, came to study for the Baptist ministry at Andover Theological Seminary. On Feb. 2, 1832 at the age of 24, he came across the tune now known as "America" in an old German collection of songs loaned him by his friend, Lowell Mason. As he later told the story, "I instantly felt the impulse to write a patriotic hymn of my own adapted to the tune. Picking up a scrap of waste paper which lay near me, I wrote at once, within half an hour, the hymn..."

The hymn was first sung in public July 4, 1832 at a children's celebration in the Park Street Church in Boston. It will be sung in Andover Baptist Church this ar to mark its birth in the same year as the church, in the same town, and by a Baptist.

East Junior High School Assembly

The annual Lincoln Spelling Match, which originated in the 1880's, was held this year at the East Junior High School as part of an assembly held at the school.

Eighteen top spellers from each grade competed first with their own classmates. Later the three winners from each grade spelled until only two were left. The winners were as follows:

Seventh grade: 1st, Laurie Marshall; 2nd, Marlon Haley; 3rd, Jane Caswell.

Eighth grade: 1st, Victoria Pascucci; 2nd, Mark Sousa; 3rd, Jackie Peck.

Finalists: 1st, Mark Sousa, 2nd Victoria Pascucci.

James Hartmann, Head of the English Department, gave out the words and awarded the prizes in much the same way the Lincoln Spelling Contest was conducted 80 years ago in the old Town Hall. The young spellers made some of the same mistakes too.

At the assembly for present sixth graders who will attend Andover East Junior High School next September, student leaders joined Principal Dorothy T. Partridge and other administrators in describing courses of study and activities open to seventh graders. The young visitors then went through a typical day's schedule of shortened periods when they met and talked with seventh grade teachers.

During this program, present East Junior High students held their annual field day, high lighted by the ninth grade versus faculty baseball game.

Talks On Drugs At East JHS

At a June assembly of ninth graders at the East Junior High School, two speakers discussed drugs and their use.

The first speaker was Lynn Sabbagh of Lucerne Dr., a former junior high student, who has just completed her freshman year at Colby College. She had attended a seminar on drugs in New York and described the different kinds, their sale, use and effect.

The second speaker was Angel Dominique, A Better Chance student here whose home is in Puerto Rico. He spoke of his experiences with close friends who used drugs and told of the conditions in his homeland caused by drug addiction. Officials at East Junior High School reported that they the staff had tried to help with the growing problem of drug use during the school year but will be unable to do so during the summer.

Mrs. Dorothy T. Partridge, principal of the East Junior High School said: "Many parents are not aware that their sons, and sometimes daughters, are indulging in drugs. In the early stages, effects are less discernible than those of alcoholism. However, marked sleepiness during the day or extreme excitability, loss of interest in surroundings, dilation of the pupils and other eye difficulties like focusing are all obvious and should not go unnoticed by parents. Advice from the family doctor or a clinic for drug addiction like the one at Boston City Hospital should be sought at once."

"We paint your home as if it were our own."

the city which the two municipalities must agree upon. This form, town counsel said, is the same as has been used between Lawrence and Methuen where there are a number of sewer tie-ins.

Selectman Sidney P. White inquired if the town might not be charged for this service sometime in the future when the Greater Lawrence communities join in erecting a pollution clearing plant for the Merrimack River. Town counsel said as far as he could see the connection would not cost the town anything either now or in the future.

White said he understood the sewage would be metered and the costs allocated to the four communities of Lawrence, Methuen, Andover and North Andover on a volume basis when the pollution plant is built.

Atty. O'Brien said that the usual practice in determining the volume of sewage is to base it on the amount of water that is used by each home. Taking the readings from the individual home water meters would eliminate the metering of the actual sewage.

Counsel advised that he would return before the board when he secures the contract from the Lawrence city council.

Librarians Elect Anderson

A. J. Anderson, Director of Memorial Hall Library, was elected chairman of the Eastern Region Library Advisory Council at the meeting June 5 at the Wellesley Public Library.

As chairman of the executive committee Anderson will preside at all meetings of the Regional Council and its executive committee. The purpose of the Regional Advisory Council is to develop annually a plan of regional public library service, accompanied by a proposed budget, which will be within the reach of all residents of the Region whose local public libraries participate in the regional system; to determine which services and activities will best meet the needs of the area served throughout the system; and to ensure cooperation among the three regional public library systems of the Commonwealth to the end that adequate public library service will be within the reach of every resident of the Commonwealth.

A regional public library system is a group of independent public libraries working together without loss of local autonomy to provide a more effective program of library service to all residents of a region. Andover is a sub-regional center in the system.

St. Paul's School Will Join Schoolboys Abroad

The Rev. Matthew M. Warren, Rector of St. Paul's School, Concord, N.H., has announced a decision by the school's board of trustees to join with Phillips Academy and Phillips Exeter Academy in co-sponsorship of the Schoolboys Abroad Program. In making his announcement, Mr. Warren indicated that the Trustees of St. Paul's had been impressed by what the Program had meant to St. Paul's boys in times past and were happy to believe that St. Paul's School could be helpful in furthering the objective of Schoolboys Abroad in the future. Boys from the School will now be eligible to participate in Schoolboys Abroad under the terms of the St. Paul's Scholarship Program.

Schoolboys Abroad was begun by Andover in 1964 with a program in Barcelona, Spain. Exeter joined in sponsorship in 1965, and the program opened a second center in Rennes, France a year ago.

At each center Schoolboys Abroad offers selected high school juniors a unique opportunity for intellectual growth, some understanding of another country, and a chance to see their own country in a new perspective. Special courses are offered in the language, literature, and civilization of France and Spain with full credit. Appropriate high school junior year courses in mathematics and English are also given for credit by faculty drawn from the three sponsoring schools. Three American teachers are at each of the centers, and the faculties are augmented by a number of Spanish and French nationals. For the academic year 1968-1969 not more than 48 boys will be enrolled for the program.

in France and not more than 42 will be accepted for the Spanish program.

Mr. Warren has nominated Andre Hurtgen, of the St. Paul's School Modern Languages Department, to be the School's representative to Schoolboys Abroad.

Bailey Will Allowed

The will of William Henry Bailey, 87 River Rd., was allowed by Judge John A. Costello in Probate Court at Salem over the objections of a nephew and niece at a trial last May 21. According to a bond filed, the testator left real estate assessed in value at $20,700 and personal property worth about $37,500.

The ruling of Judge Costello upholds a Feb. 14, 1964 will of the 73-year-old bachelor who died last Nov. 29. He and a deceased brother operated a farm off River Road for many years. At his death about 30 acres of land remained. The rest had been sold to home developers.

Francis W. Bailey, 12 River Road, and Mrs. Anna F. Barr, 76 North St., contested the will of their uncle. They maintained he did not have the testamentary capacity to make such a document. They were omitted as beneficiaries. West Parish Congregational Church in Andover was left $5000. The rest of the estate was given to Steven, 11, and Laurie Allen, nine, 21 Rock Pond Road, Windham, N.H. They are children of Bailey L. Allen, a grandson of a deceased brother Rufus Bailey of Andover.

Downtown Detour

Closing of a section of Main Street in the shopping area for two days last week while the annual Sidewalk Bazaar was in progress was only a preview of what was to come this week.

On Monday, the detour signs went up and the big earth moving machines broke ground on a line with Barnard Street.

Of course, all this is in connection with the piping of Rogers Brook, a project which has caused its share of discontent.

The contractors have to make a big cut — more than 20 feet deep — to accommodate the pipe. When the pipe is in place, the road will have to be resurfaced before it can again be opened to traffic.

Estimates are that the work will be going on for about four weeks. Bad weather could lengthen the period.

Patience on the part of businessmen and motorists will indeed be a virtue during most of July. It's all in the interest of progress.

Times Have Changed

There was a time, especially in the suburban and rural areas, when one of a boy's most prized possessions was an air rifle. Later on, as he grew older, he obtained a .22 and eventually probably bought a shotgun.

That was a more law-abiding era when possession of guns was commonplace, but when using them to kill was not.

The demand is now being made at all levels of government for the registration of firearms. Crime is soaring in the nation and the use of firearms shows a marked increase.

President Johnson, Gov. Volpe, the legal profession and law enforcement agencies are all demanding legislation to cut down on mail order sales and to stiffen the laws in states which exercise little control over the purchase of firearms.

The President, in a special message to Congress this week sensed an aroused public opinion in favor of gun control and moved quickly to take advantage of the sentiment.

Johnson said: "Registration and licensing have long been an accepted part of daily life in America. Automobiles, boats, even dogs and bicycles in many communities, are commonly registered. Our citizens must get licenses to fish, to hunt and to drive.

"Certainly no less should be required for the possession of lethal weapons that have caused so much horror and heartbreak in this country. Surely the slight inconvenience for the few is minimal, when measured against protection for all."

The President's objective is to get a uniform law for all states that as a minimum would deny guns to criminals, drug addicts, alcoholics, the mentally ill and others whose possession of guns would be deemed harmful to public safety.

Even while the President was speaking, the FBI reported a 17 per cent increase in crime for the first three months of the year. The report added that armed robbery, where a weapon was used was up 26 per cent and assault with a weapon had increased 23 per cent in the first three months of 1968.

Half a dozen legal experts at Harvard joined in demanding "de-escalation of the domestic arms race" and added that the skill and experience of the legal profession is needed to effect an effective and fair means of firearms control.

There is little doubt but that gun control legislation will be enacted.

However, the average sportsman will have little to fear. He'll still be able to go out in the autumn for upland shooting and hunt for bigger game in the northland.

In A Few Words

Elvis J. Stahr, President of the University of Indiana, said an awful lot in a few words while addressing the graduating class of Northwestern University a couple of weeks ago.

Said Stahr: "The right to question and criticize is important not just to scholars and students but to society itself; but academic freedom does not mean academic anarchy. It means freedom to express opinions; but it does not mean freedom to impose them."

What Our

To the Editor:

On a recent trip to Andover I noticed that an attractive addition had been made to the Andover Public Library. This evoked for me a succession of past pleasant memories of the twenties and thirties. I remember the wisdom of the town fathers in their support of the library, especially a special function for children. In those days, nationally, I'm sure that the Andover library was far ahead of most

Memorial Hall Library

Interior Decoration

This is the season when the average homemaker yearns to rearrange the living room furniture, make changes in drapes or slipcovers, or redecorate her home or apartment.

To help meet this seasonal urge, Memorial Hall Library this week calls attention to helpful books at the library on home decorating, room arrangement, painting and wallpapering, and other related topics.

One of the newest guides to home decorating is the "Better Homes and Gardens Decorating Book" (Meredith, 1968), which contains up-to-date decorating ideas to give any home a tasteful look. Also included are ideas on color use, furniture selection and arranging, lighting, and hints on accessories.

Other practical manuals include "The McCall's Decorating Book," by the editors of McCall's magazine; "Complete Guide to Interior Decoration," by Betty Pepis; "The Doubleday Book of Interior Decorating," by Albert Kornfield; "Elegant Decorating on a Limited Budget," by Janet Reist; "The New York Times Book of Interior Design and Decoration," by the editors of the New York Times; "365 Shortcuts to Home Decorating," by Dorothy Draper; "The Complete Book of Interior Decorating," by Mary Derieux; "Children's Rooms and Play Yards," by the editors of Sunset Magazine; "Decorating is Fun," by Dorothy Draper; "The Armstrong Book of Interior Decoration," by the Armstrong Cork Company.

"The Seventeen Book of Decorating," by the editors of Seventeen magazine, is a guide for teenagers and young women tackling decorating for the first time.

Painting and paper-hanging are covered in Kay Hardy's "How to Paint and Wallpaper," Harold Highland's "Audel's Painting and Decorating Manual," "Goodheart-Wilcox's Painting and Decorating Encyclopedia," edited by William Brushwell, and Claude Ewing's "Practical Instruction for Paper-hanging," and "The Do It Yourself Guide to Successful Home Painting and Decorating" by Devoe Institute.

The library also has helpful books on furniture, draperies and slip covers, finishing floors and woodwork, repairing and remodeling, and other related topics.

Posters On Display

Memorial Hall Library is exhibiting a number of posters recently used in a "help keep Andover clean" campaign. The posters, done by local children between ten and thirteen years of age, are clever renditions of some popular comic strip characters as well as fanciful creations of the artists' own doings. The art work is a welcome addition and helps project a lively, summer character in the library.

an alternative to this approach the group felt that a referendum question might be placed on the ballot or an article in the town warrant.

2. The question was raised whether public or private subsidy should be sought to build low income dwelling units in Andover, and if so, whether these should be single dwelling or multiple occupancy units.

3. Real Estate agents, it is maintained, should be upholding the open housing law, supported by the Supreme Court, and any infractions should be reported.

4. Gillette, Raytheon, and other agencies that need housing for their employees should be approached with a view to helping them with the problems they might be experiencing.

Many recommendations were made in connection with "Suburban-Urban Cooperation."

This group suggested among other things the creation of a full-time legislative lobby; that towns should recognize by official action their responsibility to the central cities; and that the Regional Planning agency should concern itself with the problems.

Other measures:

Encourage and aid, immediately, the introduction into Andover of ghetto residents who would, if they had the choice, desire to live and work here. Work with business and municipal authorities to make employment and transportation availabilities consistent with the housing goal.

Explore and aid specific opportunities for non-white entrepreneurship in Andover.

Employ non-residents in municipal jobs, extending all resident privileges to them — recreation, schooling, etc.

The study group's report states that an effort will be made to set up an executive committee since many of the proposals put forward may require legal study. However, the sub-groups will continue with their present efforts.

Also looked forward to is the establishment of a Human Rights Commission with neighboring communities. This would include industrial leaders, businessmen and others concerned with the crisis of civil rights.

DASA REPORT

For the twenty six week period ending May 4, 1968, DASA Corporation announced a loss of $956,104 (unaudited). This loss consisted of a net operating loss of $86,980 and a special non-recurring inventory write-off of $869,124. These results were based on sales of $3,244,698. For the fiscal year ended October 31, 1967, the Company had reported sales and a net loss of $5,142,732 and $1,695,651 respectively.

School Board Honors Fitzgerald

Fred Fitzgerald, School Committee member who acted as negotiator for the School Committee during the 11-month negotiations with the Andover Education Association, was presented with an affectionately worded plaque and a bowl by his colleagues, June 18 in appreciation of his time and patience during the bargaining period. Fitzgerald accepted the gifts in surprise, and told his colleagues that their good will meant even more to him.

The School Committee also discussed with Roger Collins the Selectmen's suggestion for an enlarged Park Department to care for all town green areas, including most of the school property and playing fields. The two boards plan to meet for further discussion in the summer.

The schoolmen also held an unhurried and wide-ranging discussion with High School principal Philip Wormwood, and William Igoe and William Perry of the guidance department on math and language tracking, in the curriculum and grouping of students in other courses. The School officials agreed with the committee that there should be a review of the math students coming into the tenth grade so that if there are candidates in the regular math courses who are capable and desirous of entering the accelerated track, arrangements can be made to accomplish this. James Murphy, high school math teacher, has been doing this to enable a group of 15 high school students to enter the accelerated track.

Mrs. R. Milton Cole asked if the high school should enter the advance placement program. This will be considered at an October meeting after studies have been made by the guidance department.

Outside View of the Hughes House

Hughes House, a beautiful new Extended Care Facility, located at 89 Morton Street in Andover, after little more than a year of operation, is well on its way to becoming first in its field in the state. Since its opening on March 13, 1967, Hugh House' number of admissions has been over 400, more than any other nursing or convalescent home in the area... in fact they have had more patients admitted in one year than all the other homes put together. This is possible because patients receive the kind of nursing care and supportive therapy that enables them to move to a private home sooner than was previously possible. Hughes House maintains the unusually short average stay of about 45 days, and 3 times as many patients are released to private homes as are released to hospitals and nursing homes.

All patients go to the dining room three times a day, which gives them a change of scenery and does wonders for their morale. There is no television at Hugh House. Patients are encouraged to have frequent visitors and to participate in the Physical Therapy and Occupational Therapy programs. Hughes House has the only six day therapy program in the Merrimack Valley, which gives patients uninterrupted therapy for their utmost advantage.

In the past year, Hughes House was accredited as an Extended Care Facility by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals. This is made up of the American Hospital Association, the American Medical Association, the American College of Surgeons and the American College of Physicians. Of the 25,000 nursing homes in the U.S. only 200 are accredited. Of those requesting accreditation, only 50% receive it. Hughes House was the first to receive it after only 6 months operation. At the present time, they are working on the final details of a program in which Blue Cross will pay for extended care benefits for people under 65.

For information, call Walter P. Hughes, owner-administrator or Mrs. Kathleen Melia, head of the nursing staff, at 475-8566.

Homes Needed For Visiting AFS Students

The Andover Chapter of the American Field Service will hold its annual Bus Stop on July 5 and 6. A group of high school age foreign students from 28 different countries who have spent the past year in the U.S. will be visiting Andover at that time. Homes are urgently needed for these students to stay in for the weekend. A program has been planned for both hosts and guests. Families who are interested in having a foreign student guest for the weekend of July 5 and 6 are asked to call Betsy Beaven, or Mrs. Walter Norris.

Raytheon Vacation

More than 28,000 employees of Raytheon Company's 22 plants and laboratories in Massachusetts will begin summer vacations Friday, June 28, as the company starts its annual two-week vacation shut-down period.

All facilities, including shipping and receiving departments, will cease normal operations at the close of scheduled shifts Thursday, June 27, and will resume operations Monday, July 15.

Departments serving the public directly will be staffed as necessary during the period.

Raytheon subsidiaries, The Badger Company, Inc. of Cambridge, and Raytheon Education Company of Boston with its D.C. Heath and Company and Macalaster Scientific Company divisions will remain open.

Bids For Plowing

Although it is still only June, Town Manager Richard J. Bowen is looking ahead to the time when snow and ice are the order of the day.

The manager has called for bids on private equipment to be engaged for snow plowing. The bids will be received until 4:30 p.m. on July 25.

This is a departure from previous practice, the manager said. He stressed that all of the equipment must be in first class condition.

Pay rates will be the same as those of the Massachusetts Department of Public Works which also hires private contractors.

FEDERAL FUNDS COMING

Andover has received $21,610 in federal funds under Public Law #874, and according to Congressman Bradford Morse more is coming to total at least $43,221, the School Committee learned Tuesday night.

P.L. 874, which aims at giving financial assistance to federally affected areas, operates only when more than three percent of the residents of a school district reside or work on federally-owned property. And that's what those forms were about, that school children brought home for their parents to fill out, just that.

OLD DAYS — Putting the squeeze on a piece of cheese required muscle-power in the 19th century, as Miss Linda Sapienza demonstrates here, on a cheese press owned by the North Andover Historical Society. It is one of several dozen similar devices which are part of an exhibit called "Yesterday's Technology: Domestic Chores in the Nineteenth Century" which opens in the Merrimack Valley Textile Museum, North Andover, on Tuesday, July 2. Admission is free.

Work Delay

Several factors have delayed the work on North St. and River Rd. where drainage facilities are to be installed and the road surfaced, according to Town Manager Richard J. Bowen.

He said that in the first place, the state did not appropriate funds for the Chapter 90 job for this fiscal year. The county also failed to come up with its one-quarter share.

The town agreed to pay for all of the work and get reimbursed later. However, the contractor engaged for the job, Julian Brothers, stopped work and Bowen says that the firm is in default.

The manager said that the project may go to competitive bidding or a contractor may be selected to do the work under the default conditions.

The project will be supervised by the state much as the Rogers Brook installation is being carried out, Bowen said.

PA Summer School Opens

Some 543 students from all parts of the United States and several foreign countries registered Wednesday for the annual Phillips Academy summer school on the campus here. Classes are scheduled to get underway today.

The school, directed by Frederick A. Peterson will continue until Aug. 8. Since the beginning of the week automobiles from many states were seen in town and scores of the students were seen in the business district making purchases in preparation for their stay at the academy.

This will be Mr. Peterson's final year as director of the summer school. He will be succeeded next year by Dr. Ronn Minne.

96 Main St. Andover

Before we can sell any one of them out front, we can build every one of them in back.

When you open a VW Dealership, you have to follow a long list of VW rules.

Which, at first glance, seem to make it harder for you to sell and service VWs.

But which, in the long run, make it easier for VW customers to get the cars and service they want.

For example, when a customer comes in looking for service, our mechanics don't have to go out looking for parts.

Because we have to have just about every VW part on hand or on tap for them.

In fact, before we can get new VWs, we have to get parts for those VWs.

Add that to the training and special tools we have to give our mechanics, and it's no wonder we can build you a new VW out back before we can sell you one in front.

Of course, the best thing about Volkswagen's rules is that they don't end after a while.

They're in effect as long as a Dealer's in business.

If after a while they don't seem like a set of rules, it's only because they've become a way of life.
